

Narayan Chakravarthula is an Entrepreneur, Founder and an Angel Investor. BOP Consultants Private Limited, the company he currently heads as a CEO is an IT Services company, having more than 200 IT professionals working for it. BOP is located in the Silicon Valley of India, Bangalore.

Narayan is an Engineer with more than 3 decades of experience in Information Technology business. Radiant Infosystems, the company Narayan co-founded won India's fastest growing company award from Deloitte in the year 2008. Narayan had pioneered internet-based bus ticket booking in India as early as 2006. He was instrumental in making millions of bus travelers in the country use internet and mobile based App to book tickets from the convenience of their homes and offices.

Narayan handled large e-governance projects in India including a tab based socio-economic caste census for more than 500 million people in more than 10 states in the country. In 2004, he handled India's prestigious pilot project (MNIC), developing the software for collecting the data of more than 3 million people across different states in the country.

Narayan had worked with various state Governments and Central (federal) Government and implemented many a first of its kind innovative e-governance projects.

Narayan and his wife Rajyalakshmi have two children Sowmya an UX Design Research professional, aged 29 and Arjun (24) also an engineer and currently pursuing Masters in Information Sciences from the University of San Francisco. In his free time Narayan supports many an NGOs in the field of Education and Healthcare by actively participating in Fund raising for these NGOs.